

Lusenga Plains National Park

by NewsGuru Media Team

25 Mar 2021

The incredible Lusenga Plains National Park, located in Kawambwa/Nchelenge. Home to a vast array of wildlife, including buffalo and elephant herds, Impala, kudu, zebra, duiker, eland, reedbuck, roan and sable - it's an unforgettable experience. You'll also find a diverse range of birds within the Miomba woodlands, such as hornbills, Whyte's barbet and dense populations of violet-backed sunbirds. Keep an eye out for sightings of Lady Ross's turaco, half-collared kingfisher, Cassin's grey flycatcher and the Red-and -blue sunbird. And don't forget to explore the rivers and falls around the park for even more unique sights. Make your way to Lusenga Plains National Park for an awe-inspiring wildlife experience.

Lusenga Plains National Park in Zambia is a prime destination for tourists wishing to experience the wildlife and natural beauty of the area. Besides offering an array of attractions, including game like impala, kudu, zebra, buffalo and sable around the Miombo woodland sector, the park has great economic value. It is a major source of revenue for Zambia, and it is estimated that the park can contribute $10 million to the economy annually. This makes Lusenga Plains National Park an essential part of Zambia's tourism industry. As a result, the Zambian government has made great efforts to support and protect this incredible ecosystem, making it a safe haven for wildlife and flora. For those wishing to experience the diverse wildlife that Lusenga Plains National Park has to offer, there are plenty of safari opportunities available. With expert guides on hand to ensure safe sightings, visitors can expect an unforgettable journey into the African wilderness. Along with plains game viewing, guests will be able to spot numerous species of birds, reptiles and mammals. It is also possible to explore the park on foot or by boat, offering a unique way to take in the stunning scenery. In addition, the park offers an array of leisure activities. From fishing and bird watching to camping, there is something for everyone to enjoy. With a wide range of accommodation options available in the main town of Kawambwa, visitors can tailor their stay to suit their needs. Whether travelling on your own or in a group, the park is sure to provide an unforgettable African experience.